

Dear Mr. Stevenson

I wish to let you know that I am completely against this proposal in regards to "exempt market security". I am not in favor of divulging the vast majority of my financial information to sales people of the types of investments. I am tired of the "government knows best" mentality of today's governments. Stick to basic governing and stay out of peoples business. I like to think that I am perfectly capable of making decisions when it comes to my financial interests and many other interests as well.

Regards,

Gord Newton
